June 1, 2000 – VR Innovations, developers and designers of virtual reality devices, proudly announce the introduction of the world's first adult gratification peripheral, the Virtual Sex Machine. This revolutionary device can be connected to your PC via the parallel port, and used as an external sensory device to convey feelings and sensations across the internet or from teledildonically enhanced CD ROM, DVD and other video sources.

Designer, Eric J. White was quoted in a recent article appearing on Playboy.com asserting, "Entertainment is no longer a passive medium. VR innovations has taken the next step towards the future. Professional entertainers and amateurs alike, will be able to sexually communicate with their fans through teledildonics. As he or she performs, you can actually feel everything".

PC Magazine awarded 1998's "Peripheral of the Year" to VR Innovations [www.vrinnovations.com] for the development of this revolutionary tool. Their state of the art technology now allows almost anyone to feel interactive stimulation while viewing adult entertainment.

In his book, "The Road Ahead", Bill Gates revealed that virtual sex is "one of the largest uses of the internet". Today, adult-oriented websites are already generating billions of dollars of consumer interest. VR Innovations brings the future of adult entertainment to cyberspace today.

VR Innovations plans to introduce its Virtual Sex Machine in connection with the leading adult websites on the market, allowing the interface to adapt to the vast array of end-users' formats. Through it's continued aggressive research and development, VR Innovations will continue to adapt this exciting technology for new and innovative products in the virtual reality market. "It is truly amazing the opportunities and options technology is bringing into our lives."
